

White Oak

(Quercus alba)

Iowa Native

Shade Tree

50' - 75' High

40' - 70' Spread

Growth Slow

4 + Hours

Native
Hardwood

Zone 3 - 9

White oak is one of the most common Oaks in the United States. The thick glossy leaves turn a wine color and fade to brown in the fall. This variety of Oak typically doesn't produce acorns until the age of 20. White Oak is known for its use of lumber including: railroad timbers, flooring, furniture, and paneling.

