Recreating an old world look that says worn, not worn out, requires each piece to be individually treated. Camio's unique distressing techniques and multi-step finishing process ensures that each piece will contain unique markings similar to those seen when fine wood furnishings age gracefully through years of daily use.

When it comes to the challenges of unusual designs, or customer requests, Camio has delivered high quality, on time and within budget cabinetry. Camio will always see your project through with an attention to detail that is not just about the cabinets, but also, about customer service.
