

To: Bucks County School of Beauty Culture's (BCSBC)
Students, both Current & Registered

Thank you for your continued dedication to your future and career by studying at the Bucks County School of Beauty Culture, and congratulations on your commitment to come to school every day/night and progress through your program. We look forward to continuing to support you through graduation and into your professional life.

As we celebrate the schools 50th Anniversary, we also celebrate the schools vision to grow and secure the future of all students being able to choose our school and the programs we offer. As a result of our vision, we will be joined in partnership with a new corporate owner and locally based investment firm, The Lorean Group. Lorean Group is led by, Mr. Marcus Mayo, a successful entrepreneur and investment professional with years of experience. Gayle Edwards will remain the schools Financial Aid Administrator and also President of BCSBC and Wendy Showmaker will also remain as the schools Admissions Director. Your fabulous teaching & support staff will not change and there will be no changes to our programs.

Marcus, Gayle & Wendi want you to know that there will be no changes to the beauty schools name, academic programs, student services, day-to-day operations, or financial stability, and it will not impact your student finances, graduation date, or financial aid due to this transaction. Your instructors will continue to teach you, and the school will maintain all of its existing approvals and accreditation. When you complete your program, you will become a proud BCSBC graduate, and we look forward to supporting your licensure quest & job search. We are excited about the opportunity to invest in the future of the Bucks County School of Beauty Culture & to continue our 50-year tradition of providing you with an excellent education and a means to build your own professional career!

Most Sincerely,

Gayle Edwards & Wendy Showmaker
Administrators at BCSBC
