Built to Serve: 80 Years and Still Growing

Since 1945, John H. Coleman Company has been built on one clear purpose: to serve our customers and community with integrity, excellence, and care. For 80 years, families and businesses in Knoxville have trusted us with their comfort, safety, and homes—and that responsibility is something we never take lightly.

What began as an HVAC installation and service company has grown to meet the changing needs of the community we serve. In 2017, we expanded into electrical services, and in 2020, we added plumbing. These steps weren't simply about adding departments—they were about providing more complete solutions for our customers. Today, we're proud to offer HVAC, plumbing, electrical, and pool services, allowing homeowners to rely on one trusted partner for their needs.

Behind every service call is a team committed to doing the job right. Our veteran technicians bring years of experience and steady leadership, while our younger technicians bring energy and a hunger to learn. Together, they create a balanced, highly capable team focused on delivering the best possible experience for every customer.

Being "Built to Serve" means more than fixing equipment. It means showing up when you need us, communicating clearly, standing behind our work, and continuously improving to serve you better.

After 80 years, our mission remains the same—take care of people well. And we're excited to continue doing just that for many years to come.

Be Ready Before the Next Storm

After the recent winter storm and widespread power outages, many homeowners were reminded how quickly comfort can disappear when the power goes out. With spring storms right around the corner, now is the time to consider installing a standby generator. A whole-home generator automatically restores power within seconds of an outage—keeping your heat or air running, protecting refrigerated food, maintaining sump pumps, and powering essential devices. No extension cords. No refueling in the dark. Just reliable backup power when you need it most. At John H. Coleman Company, our electrical team can help you determine the right generator size for your home and handle the installation from start to finish. Don't wait until the next storm is on the radar. Contact JHCC today to schedule a generator consultation and protect your home and family with dependable backup power.
