Spring into Service: Prepare your Home for Summer

As winter fades and warmer weather approaches, March is the perfect time to make sure your home is ready for the season ahead. At John H. Coleman Company, we believe the best way to avoid unexpected issues is by staying ahead with simple, preventative maintenance.

breakdowns during the hottest days of the year.

Spring is also a great time to check your plumbing. Freezing temperatures over the winter can cause unseen damage to pipes, hose bibs, and outdoor faucets. Addressing small leaks or issues now can prevent costly repairs later.

just around the corner. Getting ahead on cleaning, maintenance, and equipment checks can ensure your pool is ready to enjoy when temperatures rise.

At JHCC, we're here to help you prepare for every season. Taking care of your home now means fewer surprises later—and more comfort when you need it most.

Your HVAC system is one of the most important places to start. Scheduling a spring tune-up ensures your air conditioning system is clean, efficient, and ready to handle the summer heat. A well-maintained system not only performs better but can also help lower energy costs and prevent

On the electrical side, with storm season approaching, it's important to make sure your home is safe and prepared. From surge protection to backup power options like generators, taking steps now can provide peace of mind when severe weather hits.

And of course, pool season is

Prep Your Pool Before the Heat

With warmer days right around the corner, now is the time to start thinking about your pool. Each year, as temperatures rise, schedules quickly fill with openings, cleanings, and repairs. Getting ahead of the rush ensures your pool is ready when you want it—not weeks later.

After winter, pools often need more than just a quick clean. Water chemistry, filtration systems, and equipment should all be checked to ensure everything is running properly. Taking care of these items early can help prevent algae growth, equipment issues, and costly repairs.

Let JHCC handle the work so your pool is clean, safe, and ready for the season.
