Micro-needling also known as skin needling or collagen induction therapy, is a minimally-invasive non-surgical and nonabrasive procedure for facial rejuvenation that involves the use of a micro-needling device to create controlled skin injury.

As each fine needle punctures the skin, it creates a channel or micro-wound. The controlled injury triggers the body to fill these micro-wounds by producing new collagen and elastin in the papillary dermis. In addition, new capillaries are formed.

Skin needling is effectively used for:

- Reducing scars (including hypertrophic scars) caused by acne, surgery or thermal burns.
- Fading stretch marks.
- Reducing fine lines and deep wrinkles.
- Dyspigmentation e.g. in melasma.
- Tightening sagging skin.
