Bloomington-based Cedar House Life Change Center recently held its fifth annual Heroes Gala.

The Oct. 25 event at the Ontario Convention Center recognized four employees who embody Cedar House's EPIC values — Excellence, Passion, Integrity and Compassion — and raised funds to support the organization's expanding programs for people recovering from addiction, according to a news release from Cedar House.

This year's honorees were Lorena Sandoval, receiving the EPIC Award for Excellence; Van Houston, EPIC Award for Passion; Jeremiah Bullock, EPIC Award for Integrity; and Jeanette Bettles, EPIC Award for Compassion.

Each received a Cedar House plaques and certificates of recognition from local, state and federal representatives, including Joe Baca Jr., San

The Cirque du Cedar House-themed event included dinner, circus-themed entertainment, casino games, a silent auction and performances by the Azusa Pacific University Chamber Ensemble.

Community supporters, sponsors and Cedar House alumni were among those who attended the event.

Cedar House Life Change Center provides treatment for people affected by addiction. Its Bloomington facility is at 18612 Santa Ana Ave.
