

LOCAL NEWS

Bloomington's Cedar House Life Change Center honored by Inland Empire Health Plan

Representatives of Bloomington-based Cedar House Life Change Center receiving the Vibrant Health Award at Inland Empire Health Plan's May 9, 2025, Mission Conference are, from left, Wayne Guzman, board president; Kathleen Smith, clinical director; Jamie Lamb, chief executive officer; Daniel Chagolla, chief operations officer; Yvonne Carrillo, program director; and Melissa Hughes, director of marketing and development. (Courtesy of Cedar House Life Change Center)

By STAFF REPORT |

PUBLISHED: July 8, 2025 at 11:20 AM PDT

Cedar House Life Change Center recently was awarded one of Inland Empire Health Plan's 2025 Living the Mission awards.

The Bloomington-based center, which provides treatment for people affected by addiction, received the Vibrant Health Award, presented at Inland Empire Health Plan's May 9 Mission Conference.

Inland Empire Health Plan's Living the Mission awards honor providers, community partners and entities whose actions embody IEHP's mission, vision and values, according to a news release.

The Vibrant Health Award honors a provider or community partner that exemplifies engagement with the well-being and joyful life of the residents of the Inland Empire, as demonstrated by raising awareness of and reducing the social determinants of ill-health; supporting individual and community needs such as food security, shelter and safety; and working to ensure health and well-being are equitably experienced in diverse communities.

Cedar House Life Change Center's Bloomington facility is at 18612 Santa Ana Ave. Jamie Lamb is Cedar House's chief executive officer, Daniel Chagolla is chief operations officer, Kathleen Smith is clinical director and Yvonne Carrillo is program director.

---