"Specializing in chimney caps, chase covers, and flashing"

Warranty

Stainless steel chimney caps are warranted for lifetime of original owner, under normal wear and tear. Proper care must be taken in order for the warranty to be valid. It does not include improper installation or improper care of the chimney cap. The warranty will cover any deterioration of metal (stainless steel only) and problems with the manufacturing of the chimney cap. Normal cleaning needs to be done in order to maintain proper working order. This does not include natural weather damage. Contact your installer if you have any problems or need a replacement cap.
