FASTER BAYS, FEWER COMEBACKS, GETTING NEW HIRES BILLABLE IN WEEKS

The technician shortage continues to challenge shops across the country. According to the TechForce Foundation, over 750,000 new technicians are needed by 2028. Shop owners are not just looking for additional staff. They need technicians who can become productive quickly and continue developing their skills over time.

The groundbreaking NAPA XcceleratoR Program was developed with that reality in mind and is the first of its kind in the automotive industry.

Created in partnership with Skillmaker AI, XcceleratoR is an immersive training platform designed to shorten the time it takes to develop capable, confident technicians. By combining structured digital learning with hands-on virtual reality simulations, the program allows technicians to gain practical, scenario-based experience in a controlled environment. Instead of waiting months or years to encounter certain repairs in the shop, trainees can work through realistic diagnostic and service procedures repeatedly, building skill and confidence at a much faster pace.

NAPA XcceleratoR

A key development for the program is its recognition by ASE as a valid pathway toward meeting work experience requirements. This is significant for the industry. Traditionally, technicians must accumulate in most cases two years of on-the-job experience before qualifying to take the ASE certification tests. With XcceleratoR now recognized as part of that pathway, technicians can begin satisfying the core 30% of training experience requirements in just 25 days. That alignment between training and credentialing helps reduce the overall time required to move from entry-level to ASE-certified professional.

For shop owners, this represents a measurable advantage. It means new hires can progress toward certification sooner, contribute more confidently in the service bay, and reach higher levels of responsibility in less time. The program effectively bridges the gap between classroom learning and real-world production work. XcceleratoR also supports better hiring decisions by allowing shops to evaluate a candidate's technical knowledge during the interview process in a simple 45-minute assessment. This added visibility helps reduce uncertainty and ensures technicians are placed in roles that match their current skill level.

Beyond training, the smart glasses included in the package deliver everyday value in the bay. Technicians get hands-free, voice-driven access to trusted repair guidance built on the NAPA knowledge library and vehicle-specific data from Identifix and Autovitals right at the vehicle. Instead of stopping to track down a senior tech or walk to a workstation, a technician can ask a question and get clear, step-by-step direction while keeping both hands on the job, so work moves faster and gets done right the first time.

Addressing the technician shortage requires more than recruitment efforts alone. It requires accelerating development without sacrificing quality. By aligning immersive training with recognized certification pathways, the NAPA XcceleratoR Program helps shorten the road to competence, productivity, and professional credentials. OIL FILTER ADAPTER

OE FIX

The oil filter adapter on some vehicles can leak as its plastic housing warps from heat and chemical exposure, sometimes cracking during routine oil changes. Replacing it with another OEM unit can lead to repeat failures. This Dorman® OE FIX® housing is made entirely of aluminum for greater durability and long-term leak prevention, and includes mounting gaskets for a complete repair.

ENGINE OIL PAN

OE FIX

The plastic lower half of the OE two-piece oil pan on certain Ford F-150s can warp or crack, causing leaks. Replacing it with another plastic unit risks repeat failure and requires heavy sealant with long cure times. These Dorman® OE FIX® pans replace the failure-prone OE design with durable diecast aluminum for improved resistance to heat and impact. They use a replaceable press-in gasket with minimal sealant for faster, reliable installation, and include a magnetic drain plug to help protect the engine.
