

PaperStone

Premium Craftmanship

Manufactured in Washington State, most PaperStone® products are certified to the Forest Stewardship Council® (FSC®) standards and certified food safe by NSF International. All of the paper used in our products is post-consumer recycled paper and old cardboard container paper. Layers of this paper are pressed into “stone” using resin made from industrial by-products that would otherwise go into the waste stream and have been specially designed to produce a hardwood-like, highly workable, non-brittle composite panel. PaperStone® is commonly used in both commercial and residential applications as countertops, interior and exterior cladding, and beautiful custom furniture.
