AGREEMENT:

I have read the above terms and conditions and wish to participate in the program. I understand that ABC Fuel Oil Company has no control over the market price of oil, and that although this program is intended to protect the consumer from price spikes in the oil market during times of peak demand, ABC cannot guarantee that the program price will be lower than the market price when oil deliveries are made. I understand that my reserved gallons represent a contractual sale of a physical commodity, that this sale is final, and that no refunds or exchanges will be given. I understand that, beginning on the date of purchase, all of the gallons I purchase through this program must be delivered before any additional oil can be purchased from ABC at the current market price.
